Team Survey

This survey is based on Patrick Lencioni's "5 Dysfunctions of a Team," and will help us to understand the health of your team. Your answers are completely anonymous. We ask that you be as honest as possible to help us create the best working environment for you and your co-workers. We thank you for your participation and time to give your feedback.

	Yes	Maybe	No
Do you comfortable feel speaking up if there is an issue on your team?
Do you feel comfortable disagreeing with the direction of a project in a team meeting?
Does your manager prompt others to play devil's advocate or ask for opposing views?
Do you feel like everyone on your team is committed to the project?
If a co-worker is not pulling their weight, would you feel comfortable approaching them?
Does anyone on your team take credit for other's work?
Do you feel like anyone puts their own professional needs above the project or the team's goals?
