PATTERNS FOR ENACTING STATE LAWS

State laws tend to catch on. What does this mean for HR? When you have a workforce spread out across the country watching legislation pass in each state can help you plan and stay proactive when it comes to developing policies.

For example, check out this timeline of Paid Family Medical Leave.

WHEN STATES ENACTED PAID FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE

Consumer Data Privacy Act

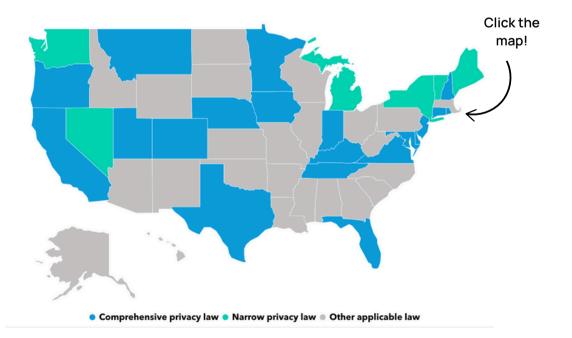

Oregon Consumer Privacy Act Effective: January 1, 2025

Tennessee Information Protection Act Effective: July 1, 2025

Minnesota Consumer Data Privacy Act Effective: July 31, 2025

Maryland Online Data Protection Act Effective: October 1, 2025

Illinois Amendments to the Right to Privacy Act Effective: October 1, 2025

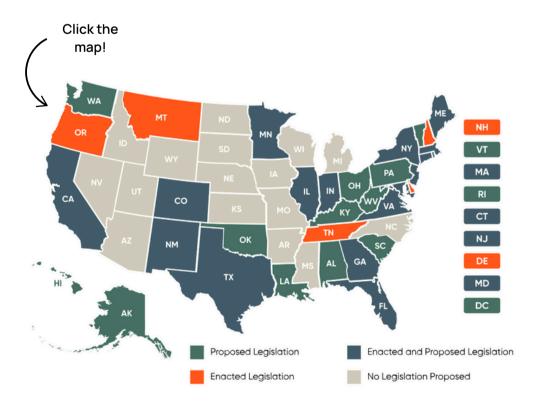

Al Legislation

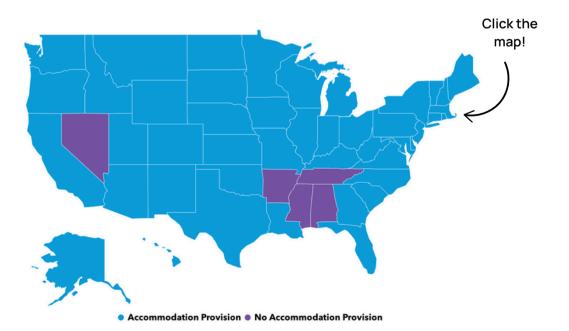

More than 400 state Al-related bills filed in 2024.

Delaware Personal Data Privacy Act Effective: January 1, 2025

Disability Discrimination Laws

Alongside the ADA, most states have their own laws prohibiting disability discrimination, which mandate employers to provide reasonable accommodations. However, some states define disability differently than federal regulations and require different accommodations.

Minimum Wage

The federal minimum wage has not been raised since 2009. The lack of action has prompted various states and local areas to implement their own minimum wage increases.

These states raised minimum wages in 2024:

- Alaska
- Arizona
- Colorado
- Connecticut
- Delaware
- Florida
- Hawaii
- Illinois

- Maryland
- Michigan
- Minnesota
- Missouri
- Montana
- Nebraska
- Nevada

 - b.LegiScan
- 2. Find the strictest policy to cover all states. This may mean you pay more in some states in a trade off for ease of compliance.
- 3. Assign a position in HR to keep tabs on state legislation. Expect that it might take more resources for your department to comply with a patchwork of state laws.
- 4. Watch the state law trends through HR newsletters.
- 5. If you don't already have an HRIS, utilize a third party data or system management tool to help support you in complying with various state laws.
- 6. Like the Workplace Violence Protection Plan, most states are providing a template to help employers comply so you can get a sense of what to expect when developing your policy.
- Schedule handbook updates quarterly, biannually, or annually to ensure your policies are are reviewed on a regular basis.
